

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A vehicular neutralization apparatus is provided with an ion generator disposed on at least one of a roof of a vehicle and an area in a vicinity of the roof inside the vehicle to allow ions, generated with the ion generator, to be 5 oriented toward an occupant, in such a manner that static electricity charged to the occupant is neutralized.